

WASHINGTON September 11, 1891.

The President said a member of the administration, who has been Mr. Harrison's guest at Cape May Point within a week, has not, except in a general way, yet given any consideration to the selection of a successor to Secretary Proctor, nor is it probable that he will for several weeks to come. There are other things occupying his attention just at present, and there is no good reason for his being in a hurry to pick out a new Secretary of war. My own impression is that two new members of the Cabinet will be appointed at the same time, and will not be made until late in October, possibly not till November. The gentleman declined to name the other member of the Cabinet who he believes will resign, but there are reasons for believing that it is Attorney General Miller, who it is thought to be booked for one of the new Circuit Court judgeships, although he refuses to discuss the subject.

Secretary Blaine will return to his duties at the State Department not later than the first of October. Word was received at his Washington residence this week, to get it ready for the family at once. This will be very unpleasant news for the ghouls who have labored so industriously through the Summer just past to kill him, but to the thousands of patriotic Americans who admire his manly way of conducting our foreign affairs it will be most welcome news.

Representative Mills seems to be getting alarmed at his Speakership prospects and his friends in their efforts to secure Eastern support for him have been giving it out that his ideas about the free coinage of silver have lately undergone a change and that he may in the near future write a letter defining his position on the subject. And they hint that in that letter he will take a position very near to that occupied by Mr. Cleveland on the same question.

The question of the seizure of the Chilean steamer Itata, which many people feared might become a serious as well as an expensive one, has been happily settled, at a conference held here, with Secretary Foster and Attorney General Miller representing this Government, and ex-Mayor Grace, of New York, and Messrs. Mount, Foster and Trumbull the new Chilean government. Under the agreement reached the Itata is to be turned over to the Chilean government and the case against her for violating our neutrality laws nolle prossed in the courts, and the Chilean Government is to pay the United States a sum equal to the expenses of the cruiser Charleston in making the chase after the Itata. This is a very satisfactory ending of the matter, much more so than if the Chilean government had made a demand for heavy damages on account of the seizure.

The State department has been officially notified that Denmark, which followed Germany in excluding American pork, has followed the same example in removing restrictions upon its importation, and is now prepared to admit all that may be shipped there accompanied by the United States certificate of inspection. Secretary Rusk is not doing much talking about his triumphs, but his friends are shouting as they have a right to do, for to him more than any other man is due the credit for the meat inspection law, without which the restrictions upon the importation of American pork would not have been removed by Germany or by Denmark. The Secretary is hopeful that France will follow suit and remove the restrictions.

The new creamery of the Kaupisch Bros. is a great assistance to the milkmen throughout the valley. All the milk they can secure is taken at the creamery, and still there is room and machinery to accommodate more.
